

How to apostille?

How to apostille a document is easy if you know the proper steps to take.

You file your document at one of the fifty United States secretaries of state offices and/or at the United States Department of State who will issue an apostille certificate on a document that can be used to verify authenticity to a foreign country that is part of the Hague Convention.