

Do I need to provide you with a photo ID to apostille or authenticate my documents in Texas?

No.

The Texas Secretary of State does not require any type of photo identification to be able to apostille personal, business, or corporate documents with them.