

Does the Texas Secretary of State issue or apostille Certificate of Incorporation?

No, they do not.

The Texas Secretary of State no longer issues Certificate of Incorporation documents so they can't issue apostille certificates on them.

As a legal substitute to obtain and apostille a Certificate of Incorporation, your company can order a Certificate of Formation from the Texas Secretary of State.

Then we can help you to rush obtain and apostille this corporation document at the Texas Secretary of State office.
