

How do you apostille a document in Texas?

To apostille a document in Texas you or a Texas apostille service company that you contract with will rush file your original recordable documents or properly notarized original non-recordable documents at the Texas Secretary of State in Austin, TX.

You must mail or drop off your original documents and you cannot email, fax, or text copies of documents to the state or to us.

Once your legal documents are accepted the Texas Secretary of State office will issue a Texas universal apostille certification on your documents.
